Your law firm is in Belgrade, Serbia's capital.

Yes, Belgrade is one of the oldest cities in Europe, located in Central Serbia at the confluence of the Sava and the Danube rivers. It's a huge city with almost 1.700.000 inhabitants, the third biggest town in south eastern Europe, after Athens and Bucarest. Belgrade is the financial, cultural and scientific capital of Serbia and it's divided in 17 municipalities, with their own organizational autonomy.

When have you become a lawyer?

I graduated on Faculty of Law in Belgrade in 2007. Immediately after graduation I started my carrier as a legal trainee and in 2010 passed Bar Exam.

I also passed a Public Notary Exam in 2015, but realized that my passion is definitely to be an Attorney at law, and not anything else. After ten years of serving as an attorney at law with a large and well-respected law offices in Belgrade -Serbia, I decided to establish my own law office, that I am very proud on and I ran it pretty successfully.

Recently you've become partner of Stanković and Partners (NSTLAW) Law firm in Belgrade...

Yes! I'm very proud and happy for this opportunity and achievement: Stanković and partners allows me to continue and improve at the highest level branches of law I love the most such as international and domestic corporate issues, labor law, corporate M&A and general corporate law, commercial matters.

Together with my Stanković and partners we are member of Worldwide Independent Lawyers League (WILL) and these membership us help to expand our international profile and links.

NSTLAW also has strong business connections with law firms from this Alliance with whom the firm worked or is working on some of the significant Corporate & Commercial transactions.

So you believe in the importance of an international approach in our profession...

It's never been more important to look beyond our borders and adopt the best practice from wherever you can find it. It's a lesson that I and Stanković & Partners have taken to heart. Many of our clients are multinational companies and consequently a good proportion of our work involves complex cross-border financings and multijurisdictional transactions or disputes: this often requires us to work alongside leading international law firms, and I personally and we as a law firm like to think that we offer the same standards and style of service available at these global firms – with carefully tailored, pragmatic advice and high levels of responsiveness coming as standard.

I read that NSTLAW had a public recognition of your way of approaching legal matters...
